HEADING 1: PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The project aims to empower women on parental leave through skills development and employment prospects. It aims to enhance the skills and knowledge of 40 women on parental leave in European countries, focusing on career development through local trainings.

The project supports quality improvement and innovation in adults' education work through international training and the creation of tangible outputs. It also increases awareness among women on parental leave about lifelong learning and various options for continuing education and training.

The project provides women on parental leave with access to a range of learning and skills development options and resources through a specialized website.

HEADING 2: PARTNERS INFORMATION

Partner from Turkey

IOVA aims to develop social initiatives, inspired by democracy, equality, pluralism and the development of education, training and entrepreneurship of young people, women, migrants and the disabled in Aydın and abroad.

HEADING 3: MOTHERS ON PARENTAL LEAVE SITUATION AND BENEFITS IN PARTNER COUNTRIES

In this section, we delve into the situations and benefits of mothers on parental leave in each partner country under the sub-heading.

Parental Leave in Turkey

Duration and Payment Structure:

Mothers are entitled to 16 weeks of paid maternity leave, extended to 18 weeks for multiple pregnancies or high-risk situations. Part-time work options are available based on the number of children: 60 days for one child, 120 days for two children, 180 days for three or more children, and 360 days for children with disabilities or adopted.

Eligibility and Conditions:

Female employees are covered by the Turkish social security system. Social security contributions are required for maternity benefits. Notification to the employer about pregnancy and expected childbirth date.

Duration of Maternity Leave:

Typically 16 weeks, with variations for multiple births or medical reasons.

Maternity Allowance:

Calculated based on the insured woman's daily earning average. Two-thirds (2/3) of the full salary from the Social Security Institution.

Limits and Floors of Parental Benefits:

Maternity allowance is calculated as a percentage of the insured woman's regular salary. Daily earning average limit may apply.

Parental Leave in Sweden

Parental leave in Sweden is a legally protected right that allows individuals to stay at home with their children instead of working. Key points include;

Duration and Flexibility:

Full-time parental leave until the child is 18 months old without losing employment. Option to reduce working hours by a quarter until the child is 8.

Eligibility:

Legal parents, guardians, or those cohabiting with the child's parent can receive parental benefits. Parents adopting a child are entitled to parental leave and benefits. Sole custodians can transfer parental benefits to a friend or relative under certain conditions.

Insurance and Residency:

To receive parental benefits, individuals must be insured in Sweden, and the child must reside in Sweden, the EU/EEA, or Switzerland.

Allocation of Parental Days:

480 parental days for one child; and 240 days each for two parents. Parental benefit can be used until the child turns 12 or completes grade 5, with a limit of saving 96 days from age 4 to 12. Compensation is based on sickness benefit level and a minimum level (currently 180 SEK/day).

Parental Benefit for Different Groups:

Unemployed, seeking work, or students are entitled to parental benefit. Compensation for the unemployed or students is SEK 250 per day or based on previous income if applicable. Self-employed parents receive parental leave and benefits based on their business structure, with a maximum amount for the sickness benefit level being SEK 1,012 per day.

Parental Leave in Portugal

Maternity Leave:

Lasts 120 or 150 days, with maternity pay options of 100% for 120 days or 80% for 150 days. Qualification requires six months of social security contributions. The application through the Social Security website with employment protections.

Paternity Leave:

Increased to 28 days in 2023, with five days mandatory after birth. Fathers receive full salary; shared parental leave adds 30 days with varying pay. The application requires written notification to the employer and six months of social security contributions.

Unpaid Leave and Support:

Employees can request up to two years of unpaid leave. Self-employed qualify based on past contributions; unemployed parents receive paid leave. The additional rights include breastfeeding time, childcare-related absences, and financial support.

Addressing Refusals and Resources:

Employers are obligated to grant parental leave; violations reported to ACT or legal consultation. Resources include ePortugal, the European Commission, and Segurança Social.

Parental leave in Lithuania

Duration and Payment Structure:

Parental leave in Lithuania extends from the end of pregnancy and maternity leave until the child turns 3 years old, with payments primarily made until the child reaches 24 months. Employers must maintain the employee's position during parental leave.

Eligibility and Conditions:

Eligible individuals include biological parents, adoptive parents, guardians, and grandparents (conditional on one of the child's parents having the right to receive parental benefits). To qualify, the caregiver must be covered by maternity social insurance, on parental leave with a child up to 3 years old, and meet specific work history criteria.

Payment Amount and Duration:

Parental benefits are paid from the end of maternity leave until the child reaches 18 or 24 months. Parents choose between an 18-month or 24-month payment option, with payment amounts ranging from 60% to 30% of the compensatory wage.

Limits and Floors of Parental Benefits:

Benefit ceilings are capped at 2 times the average national monthly wage. Benefit floors are set at a minimum of 6 times the basic social benefit.

Additional Considerations:

If a parent becomes eligible for maternity benefits for another child's birth while receiving parental benefits, both benefits are paid, but the total cannot exceed 78% of the recipient's compensatory wage.
